Bob McAllister Makes Impressive Debut Against Young Mike Donovan, Outpointing Latter at Every Style of Fighting and Showing the Kind of Class That Reminded One of the "Old

Copyright, 1913, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World). OB M'ALLISTER, the tall California middleweight, who slipped quietly into New York a few weeks ago and was here for four days before any one discovered the fact of his existence, has been adto full membership in our club. Robert certainly "belongs." The he trimmed "Young Mike" Donovan at the Fairmont last night enhim to run for President whenever he pleases.

A are they doing out in California, anyhow—raising a fighter with every crop? When Willie Ritchie dawned upon our until horizon and showed a real champion looks like we thought the limit had been reached re's another one within a brace of moons

A very large number of New York fight fans missed seeing ob McAllister last night. Consequently they are kicking themes around the block to-day whenever they chance to neet one the fortunate few who put on their enoughoes and hied themgee to the Bronz. For it surely was some occasion. As Jack agherty said to me at the end of the tenth round: "Bay, that y hit Mike's kid with everything but the bucket and the chair in he corner." This was just at the moment when McAllister, laughing like a schoolboy, gave the hand of "Young Mike" a friendly hip and, running to Mike's corner, leaned over the ropes and exded the gloved mitt that had just been resting on "Young Mike's" left eye to the dad of "Young Mike"—the only bona fide Mike Donovan, sparring partner of Presidents. I noticed that old Mike (who ten't old at all, but as spry as any young colt, even if he is sixty-five, or something like that) shook hands with the Califormion with all the appreciation in the world for a good, clever Aghting man. The fact that McAllister had just trimmed his son interfered in no way whatever with Mike Donovan's sense of portemanship.

CROWD SMALL COMPARED WITH FRISCO CROWDS.

BUT TO GO BACK to the beginning, which was about 10 o'clock, and before the Mealilister had made his first bid for Eastern honors, we'll mention the sewed. That's a mere figure of speech—that "crowd." There were a few hunged fans scattered through the hall. Perhaps enough to make Bob's share of the pure amount to a couple of hundred dollars. "And," suggested Brother lilleter McAllister addy, "corpinare this with the crowds at home, where Bob arms at much as $2,000 in a single four-round bout."

"Wait until then know him here," said a bystander who had been watching scallister in training, and who knew something. & McAllister brightened up. AT THE RING time McAllister weighed 155 in his shoes, or a triffe less has 35 stripped. In spite of his 4 feet 2 inches he's a real middleweight, arihur "Toung Mike" Donovan weighed 155 in his togs. Lester Channell Returns to Yanks A Real Live Star. Lester Channell, the star outfielder

Lester Channell, the star outfielder of the Denver club of the Western Association, has been purchased by the Highlanders. This will not be Channell's first appearance here, for in 1911 he participated in a few games for the Highlanders. In the games he played in on the Hilltop the youngster proved he had the ability of a big leaguer, but he was sent back to the minors after he broke his log in a game. Since then Channell has made a creditable record in the minors, and to date he is considered the best player in the Western League. It is terrific batting helped the Denver team carry of Western League. His terrific batting helped the Denver team carry off two pennants. During the season just past Channell batted 327. He led the league in home runs, having twenty-seven to his credit. His collection of two-base hits was twenty-eight and his triples thirty-three. Jack Hendricks, the manager of the Denver team, said that Channell is the best player he ever saw. The Highlanders paid a cash bonus for Channell and also agreed to turn over a pitcher, to be agreed upon later.
